

RABBIT HOLES

“PETSCOP,” THE CREEPY YOUTUBE SERIES THAT CONFOUNDED GAMERS ON REDDIT

By Alex Barron

August 31, 2017

At first glance, it seems like a nineties-era PlayStation game. Then things get weird. YouTube

Save this story

Unlock this story for just ~~$2.50~~ $1 a week for 1 year. Subscribe »

Your window is closing.

Don't lose these views. Get full access for ~~$2.50~~ $1 a week for one year, plus a free tote. Cancel or pause anytime.

See Offers

Already a subscriber? Sign In

Alex Barron is a former producer for the New Yorker Radio Hour.

More: Reddit Video Games Creepypasta

The Goings On Newsletter

What we're watching, listening to, and doing this week in N.Y.C, and beyond

SIGN UP

By signing up, you agree to our user agreement (including class action waiver and arbitration provisions), and acknowledge our privacy policy.

Unlock this story for just ~~$2.50~~ $1 a week for 1 year. Subscribe »

READ MORE

An Obsessive Guide to Music Played at the Gap in the Nineties and Early Aughts

By Eric Harvey

Time-Travelling with Merriam-Webster's Dictionary

By Elif Batuman

THE NEW YORKER INTERVIEW

Rivers Cuomo Is Piecing It All Together

The singer-songwriter and Weezer front man on the making of the band's new LP, the Gold Album, his relationship with his father, and the stories we tell about ourselves.

By Amanda Petrusich

ESSAY

There's No Place Like Group Chats

My old friends and I have ended up scattered across different states, in different time zones, but we've made our own neighborhood inside the black and blue bubbles of our phones.

By Hanif Abdurraqib

A CRITIC AT LARGE

The Curious Power of Punctuation

Commas, dashes, semicolons, and spaces have shaped how we read for centuries. What happens when machines start crafting the sentences?

By Louis Menand

FLASH FICTION

"Wishes and Fears"

It was the end of the world, and a number of us had gathered in a large, abandoned house

Unlock this story for just ~~$2.50~~ $1 a week for 1 year. Subscribe »

POP MUSIC

Who's Afraid of A.I. Music?

When the rapper Fenix Flexin debuted a new accent on his single “Rubberz,” he stumbled into a century-old fight over musical fraudulence.

By Kelefa Sanneh

THE WEEKEND ESSAY

Cinema Lessons from a Trash-Movie Auteur

Why do we love trash and hate slop? Neil Breen's so-bad-they're-great movies elucidate the difference.

By Becca Rothfeld

OPEN QUESTIONS

Can A.I. “Go Rogue”?

In the wake of turmoil at OpenAI and Anthropic, it's become common to describe A.I. as a kind of person, hatching plans and pursuing desires. The truth is a little trickier.

By Joshua Rothman

FICTION

“Lost Child”

It almost returned to Kit then—what this place was, and who was waiting for them inside.

By Joyce Carol Oates

THIS WEEK IN FICTION

Joyce Carol Oates on Embedded Memories

The author discusses her story “Lost Child.”

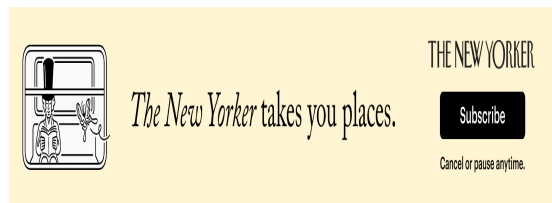

By Deborah Treisman

Unlock this story for just ~~$2.50~~ $1 a week for 1 year. Subscribe »

“Favorite Bodies”

I told her that I’d been reading an article about morticians. One of the morticians interviewed had said something that was a revelation.

By Lydia Davis

 Privacy Information

Unlock this story for just ~~$2.50~~ $1 a week for 1 year. Subscribe »